EXPLORE. TASTE. LINGER.

Where award-winning wines and the spirit of adventure make the perfect blend for your next getaway.

Located at the confluence of the Snake and Clearwater rivers Lewiston, Idaho, and Clarkston, Washington, sit just 738 feet above sea level. The low elevation provides a mild climate making it a great year-round location for outdoor activities.

Known as the Gateway to Hells Canyon – North America's deepest river gorge – is a must see while visiting the area. Take a guided jet boat or rafting tour into the canyon on the Snake River. Hells Canyon offers scenic vistas that rival any on the continent. A place where you can enjoy world-class whitewater, spectacular mountain peaks in the vast reaches of remote wilderness, hiking, and horseback riding. Immerse yourself in nature and culture with diverse wildlife and artifacts from prehistoric tribes. A place where rustic remains of early settlers surround you.

Don't forget to try some of the small-batch wines produced by members of the Lewis-Clark Valley AVA and other wineries in the region. Wines from this region have consistently been ranked among the best of the best. Map out your wine tasting adventure and be sure to take some home with you to share.

While you're here be sure to feed your inner historian while listening to the legends of the Nez Perce and explore the same lands that Meriwether Lewis and William Clark explored all those years ago. Historical and interpretive sites dot the region telling tales of those who came before us.

TOUR HELLS CANYON

Hells Canyon can most conveniently be reached via a guided jet boat tour. The tour boats offer a smooth, comfortable ride narrated by an experienced US Coast Guard licensed Captain. Listen to the tales of the native Nez Perce Indians, steamboats sinking, and mining communities. Your guide will point out petroglyphs, blue heron, eagles and big horn sheep. Stop on white sandy beaches and play in the water, eat lunch, and walk through historical museums at Cache Creek and Kirkwood Historical Ranch. Hells Canyon jet boat tour guides offer 1/2-day and full-day tours with lunch and beverages included and bathrooms on-board. They also offer trips to Hells Canyon Dam, fishing excursions, the historic US Mail boat and overnight stays at remote lodges and cabins deep in the canyon. Tours run on demand — so we encourage you to make your reservations prior to arriving to the Lewis-Clark Valley; however, they do accept last minute reservations.
